

EXPORT CONTROL POLICY

APA attaches a high priority to understanding, and complying with, Australian export controls. We will give priority to complying with all Australian export laws in achieving our commercial interests.

APA employees will actively assist in complying with export controls. We will put in place policies and procedures that support our commitment to comply with these controls. We will train our employees in these policies and procedures. Relevant employees will learn, and strictly abide by, applicable national and international export control legislation and requirements.

APA will not, unless permitted to do so by and approval issued by the relevant Australian Government agency, neither directly nor indirectly, supply commodities, software, technology or services if we have reason to believe that such items will be used for the development of production of Weapons of Mass Destruction or their delivery systems.

APA will exercise the same restraint domestically if we have reason to believe that a product or service could be diverted to a Weapon of Mass Destruction program or delivery system project. In these circumstances, we will not proceed with transaction unless permitted to do so by an approval issued by the relevant Australian Government agency.

APA will maintain regular contact with government agencies connected with export policy, e.g. the Defence Export Control office, and Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade. In the event of any doubt about a transaction APA will contact the responsible agency for information and advice. If concerns continue about the end-use of an item or a service APA will not continue with the transaction
